ALL DRUGGISTS

Mr. and Mrs. Vest Estes and babe visited relatives in Marble Hill Sunday.

Loren Grimsley of Lufkin visited at B. S. Snider's last Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Mattie Bast of Jackson visited Mrs. J. H. Wicecarver in Marble Hill the first of the week.

W. D. Allen has just had his residence newly painted. Louis Mayer and Robert Hatcher did the work.

Ben Rose and Alvin Whitehead went to Scott county last Sunday to help harvest the big wheat crop.

If the people of Marble Hill and Lutesville expect to have a Fourth of July picnic they are keeping the fact mighty quiet.

Wheat harvest will be on this week and while much of the crop has been damaged, a pretty fair crop will be harvested.

Sheriff S. P. Presnell took Elias Condor to the Farmington hospital last Saturday for treatment, he having been adjudged insane by the County court last week.

Marriage licenses have been issued to Isaac Ritchey and Mrs. Idora Criddle, Samuel Herschel Jennings and Elanor Frances Conrad and Robert H. Holzum and Dena Seiler.

County Clerk Oscar W. Yount went to Farmington last Saturday and visited the state hospital, and was well pleased with the institution and the way it is managed.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Morgan and babe arrived here Monday on a visit to Mr. Morgan's parents, Attorney and Mrs. Win. M. Morgan. Mr. Morgan recently closed a term of school at Silex.

Reuben McCormick of near Glen Allen was in town Monday and made the printer a friendly visit. He says the prospects for crops are pretty good in his part of the country now, notwithstanding the fact that the wheat will make a short yield.

R. B. Hartle and son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Verbit Hartle, and grandsons, Masters Hartle Rieman and Roy Burford, motored over from the vicinity of Millerville last Sunday and visited at the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Presnell, returning Sunday.

Rev. W. A. Davault filled an appointment at Burfordville last Sunday, and was accompanied home Monday by Merchant L. N. Robins in his car. Mr. Robins made this office an appreciated visit. He says the people over at Burfordville are quite hopeful of good crops this year, notwithstanding the fact that the wheat will be considerably under the average.

Supreme Court Marshal Hina C. Schult came down last Thursday and took Arch Jenkins to the penitentiary on Friday. Jenkins's father and two sisters came over here Friday morning to see Arch before he was taken away and when they met in the jail and again when the time came for the prisoner to go, the scenes were most agonizing. The woman seemed to be heart-broken and Arch broke down and wept with his sisters and old gray-headed father. Arch had not courage left to reap the crop he had sown, and one of the great misfortune of this respect has to the fact that it nearly always involves others, and innocence is not exempt from the bitter fruits.

Mrs. H. M. Smith went to Dexter Tuesday where she has a good position.

Neil Smith left for Memphis, Tenn. Tuesday where he expects to obtain a position.

Dr. Charles H. Caton preached interesting sermons at the Christian church last Sunday, morning and evening. After spending a couple of weeks with friends in Marble Hill, he went on to his home at Flat River the first of the week.

Jesse A. Williams has the thanks of this office for an invitation to attend the commencement exercises of Washington University, which takes place June 10. Jesse is a member of the graduating class in the dental department. Jesse deserves much credit for the excellent progress he has made, and his many friends bespeak for him a full measure of success in his chosen profession.

The little one-month-old child of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Price of 322 North Ellis street, died Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock after having suffered a severe spasm. The child had been sickly since his birth and it was feared by the Prices that they would never be able to raise him. The remains were taken to Allenville by auto this morning and from there to Leopold, Bollinger county, and laid to rest.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Abernathy and baby of Lutesville, Bollinger county, in company with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Abernathy of near Longtown transacted business in Perryville yesterday. Duke and his wife have been visiting Perry county relatives a couple of weeks, and while here went fishing, and in some manner Duke's knee came in contact with the fin of a catfish. Inflammation set in and he is still getting around with the aid of a crutch. Mr. Abernathy is still engaged in school teaching and ordered the Sun sent to his address—Perry County Sun.

A long article appeared in the Monday edition of the Cape Girardeau Republican in regard to the Cape aviator, C. C. Witmer, and makes the claim that he is a nephew of Dr. C. M. Witmer, of Marble Hill "and until a year or so ago a backwoods boy of that community." We do not know where the Republican got its information. We took the article to Dr. Witmer, and after reading it he informed us that he is by no means—survive that the aviator is a nephew of his, and the statement that he ever lived in Marble Hill or vicinity is all a big mistake.

N. J. Wicecarver and son, Master Jackie, went to the farm near Greenbrier the first of the week.

Will Sullivan is spending a few days at home, with his mother, Mrs. Jennie Sullivan, near town.

Mrs. Carlisle and son, Master Carl Cother, of Bessville visited at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ricketts.

Mrs. E. J. Martin and her granddaughter, Miss Iola Woodfill, of Aurora, Mo., are here visiting Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Witmer. Mrs. Martin formerly resided in Lutesville.

The latest reports from Ed G. Lutes, who underwent an operation at the Mayfield Sanitarium in St. Louis for appendicitis a short time ago, say he is getting along very well and will be able to come home in a couple of weeks.

Too Literal

A tradesman in a certain town put a box outside his shop one day, labeled "For the Blind." A few weeks afterward the box disappeared. "Hullo! What's happened to your box for the blind?" he was asked.

"Oh, I got enough money," he replied. "And," pointing up to a new canvas blind that sheltered his shop window, "there's the blind. Not bad, is it?"—London Answers.

A Paying Job

A visitor to a small country town lost his dog, an animal which he prized very much.

Rushing to the office of the local newspaper, he handed in an advertisement offering $250 reward for the return of his dog.

Half an hour later he thought he would add to his advertisement the words: "No questions asked." So he hurried off to the office again.

When he got there the place was empty save for a small boy, who looked very sulky.

"Where's the staff," asked the tourist, glancing around the deserted room.

"Out looking for your dog!" was the aggrieved retort.—St. Louis Star.

Automobiles Collide

On Wednesday evening of last week a little while before dark, Dr. W. A. Reynolds and Dean Walker of Lutesville, while enjoying a ride, along with friends in each car, ran together at the junction of Walnut and Water streets and the cars were pretty badly used up. Walker's car seemed to get much the worse of it and will probably cost a hundred dollars to properly repair it. The doctor's car doesn't seem to have been used up anything like so bad, but we have not learned the extent of the damage.

The wonder is that no one was killed or seriously injured. The doctor had in his car with him his three children and J. W. Chandler and D. C. Bailey, while Troy Francis, Charley Lutes and Minton Burford were with Walker. From the best we can gather in regard to the facts, the collision was caused by a misunderstanding. As the doctor came up Water street, Walker turned into Walnut from High street, and where Walnut joins with Water street they form a wedge or V, and Walker says he thought the doctor was going on up Water street and took the wrong side, and they were going too fast to stop in the short distance that remained between them.

This is the first accident of the kind that has happened here and it is hoped we will not be so unfortunate as to have another.

Sickly Children

A child with worms is pale, cross and unhealthy. Its appetite is variable. It starts in the sleep, and frequently grinds the teeth when sleeping. A certain remedy for worms is

White's Cream Vermifuge

It destroys the worms and strengthens the internal organs that have been weakened by these pests. Pale, sickly children pick up quickly and soon become healthy, active and cheerful under its excellent purgative influence. Price 25c.

"Watch the Corners."

When you wake up in the morning of a chill and cheerless day And feel inclined to grumble, pout or frown, Just glance into your mirror, and you will quickly see, It's just because the corners of your mouth turn down. Then take this simple rhyme, Remember it in time: It's always dreary weather in country-side or town, When you wake and find the corners of your mouth turned down. If you wake up in the morning full of bright and happy thoughts, And begin to count the blessings in your cup, Then glance into your mirror and you will quickly see, It's all because the corners of your mouth turn up. Then take this little rhyme, Remember all the time: There's joy a-plenty in this world to fill life's cup, If you'll only keep the corners of your mouth turned up. —Selected.

Wiley VanAmburg

Edward O. Wiley and Miss Jennie VanAmburg were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. R. W. VanAmburg, in Lutesville June 6. Rev. B. S. McCann officiating in the presence of a few relatives and intimate friends.

The bride is an accomplished and most excellent young lady, a graduate of Will Mayfield College in both the literary and music departments, and is popular and prominent in church and society, and has a host of admiring friends, who will greatly miss her. She has been a zealous and prominent worker in the Methodist church, South, and the Sunday school for a number of years.

The groom comes highly recommended, has just graduated from the State University and is a young man of fine appearance and splendid attainments. He was principal of the Lutesville public school several years ago and their courtship probably dates from that time. He has been elected superintendent of the public schools at Campbell, where they will reside.

The Press joins their many friends in wishing the happy young couple the best things this life affords.

War Is Declared

Time was when we shavers used to wave a parti-colored bunch of tissue paper over the dining table to keep the festive little flies back of the firing line. Now the intimation to a woman that there are flies in her house is enough to cause a riot. The world do move, and we will undoubtedly live to see the day when a fly preserved in alcohol will have its place in a museum. Read "Swat the Fly" in this issue of THE PRESS.

What One Gallon of Gasoline Will Do

It is difficult to realize the amount of stored energy in a gallon of gasoline says H. L. Thompson of the department of agronomy at Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical college. In a gallon pail it looks very small, but when burned in a small two- or three horse-power engine the amount of work accomplished is surprising. Even though so much work is accomplished, four fifths of the energy in the gasoline is wasted in the best engines—in friction cooling and the exhaust gasses. Yet in a good engine it should give ten horse-power hours or run a one horse-power engine for a ten-hour day.

Tests have shown, says Mr. Thompson, that one gallon of gasoline used in an engine can do the following work:

- Shell 264 bushels of corn.
- Grind 480 bushels of corn.
- Separate the milk from 300 cows.
- Do ten weekly washings without wringing.
- Grind twenty sickles.
- Pump 2,454 gallons of water from a forty-three-foot well.
- Pump 1,720 gallons of water from a 139-foot well.
- Cut four acres of grain if harvester is drawn by horses.
- Bale four tons of hay.
- Mix thirty-five cubic yards of cement.
- Carry one ton fourteen miles on a small truck.
- Carry two passengers in a light car thirty miles.
- Plow two-fifths of an acre of average land.
- Make electricity for eight lights (fifteen candlepower tungsten) for thirty hours.
- Cut and lift thirty feet four tons of silage with a blower cutter—Ex.

A Montgomery City merchant advertised free ice cream at his place of business and more than seven hundred persons were served with the frozen delicacy. The merchant disclaimed any philanthropic motive and said the free cream was merely a test to learn how many persons were reading his advertisements.—St. Joseph Observer
